The UC President’s Global Food and Carbon Neutrality Initiatives are currently seeking student fellows for the 2015-16 academic year. The fellowships are designed as on-campus internships to enable students to contribute significantly to a select group of on-going projects.

Projects will address a broad range of topics related to the goals of the Carbon Neutrality and Global Food Initiatives including regional climate resiliency, climate action planning, urban agriculture, climate and food communication, and campus organizing.

Application Deadline: October 8, 2015
